FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

MANLEY NAMED EMPLOYEE OF THE MONTH

CHARLESTON, IL--Based on her outstanding job performance, Peggy Manley of rural Charleston has been named Eastern Illinois University's "Employee of the Month."

Manley was chosen for the award from more than 800 Eastern civil service employees by the university's Civil Service Employee Recognition Committee.

As secretary to Dean of the Lumpkin College of Business and Applied Sciences Ted Ivarie, Manley assists with the office budget, handles correspondence, completes general office duties and supervises student employees.

Ivarie said, "Peggy is a very conscientious and dedicated individual who is satisfied with nothing less than the best when completing assignments. She has a strong aptitude for mastery of computer software and made an extraordinary contribution to the process of the self-study evaluation of the college for accreditation by the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business."

Manley, who has been employed at Eastern for four years, received a bachelor's degree in zoology and botany from Eastern in 1978.

When asked what she enjoys most about her position she said, "I like being able to use state-of-the-art technology in a challenging environment with supportive co-workers."

Manley has been active in Oakland's Oak Grove Separate Baptist Church as a song leader and youth group leader.

She and her husband, Larry, who also works at Eastern, have two sons, Kyle, 8, and Carson, 6, who attend Ashmore Elementary School.
